

Booking Conditions for Virtual and In-Person Courses and Camps

The booking conditions below constitute an agreement between the parent/guardian registering their child, the participant themselves (if they have reached the age of majority) and Centauri Summer Camp Inc/Centauri Arts (hereafter referred to as Centauri).

1. Payment of Fees

All fees must be paid in full before a participant may join virtual or in-person programs. The fees are non-refundable, except in the following circumstances:

- a) If a participant withdraws 14 days or more before the start of their program, fees are refunded minus a $100 admin fee. Parents may also choose to switch their child to any other program currently on the schedule, provided space is available.
- b) If we return to lockdown and programs must go virtual within the first quarter of any program, and a student does not wish to take the program virtually, a refund will be given for the remaining classes/sessions. If we must go virtual after the first quarter of the program, no refund can be given. Participants will always receive their full allotment of class hours, even if part of the program must be offered virtually.

2. Behaviour of Participants

Centauri reserves the right to remove from activities any participant whose behaviour becomes detrimental to the experience of others, or whose actions place themselves or others at risk. In such cases, the parent will be notified. Behaviour of an antisocial, dangerous or otherwise unacceptable nature may result in expulsion from the program. Such decisions are at the sole discretion of the directors (or the instructor, and/or administrator, if the directors are not present) and no refund will be given. Please ensure your child reviews our Code of Conduct before joining their first session.

3. Cancellation Policies

Very occasionally, it is necessary for us to cancel a program (for example, in the case of insufficient bookings). Such cancellation is entirely at the discretion of the directors. Campers will be offered the choice of transferring to an alternate program or receiving a 100% refund. Our liability shall then cease.

Very occasionally, it is necessary for us to combine two similar programs (for example, in the case of insufficient bookings). This is at the discretion of the directors. Where the combination of two programs involves campers attending a program at a different time, the option of a 100% refund will be offered. Our liability shall then cease.

Cancellations by Force Majeure: In the event that Centauri has to cancel a course due to exceptional circumstances outside of our control, a full refund will be offered to all participants and our liability shall then cease.

Cancellation of a Portion of a Virtual or In-Person Program

If a portion of a program must be cancelled for reasons beyond our control - for example, inclement weather or instructor illness – every effort will be made to make up for the lost time, or to provide alternative materials/classes/instructors. For example, with academy classes, subsequent classes can often be lengthened to make up for missed time. If we cannot offer substitute time/instructors/courses and the missed class time exceeds 15% of the purchased program, a partial refund will be offered.

4. Late Arrivals, Early Departures or Absence

All participants are asked to join programs at the date and time specified. When a student is late or absent, it can have a negative impact on the quality of everyone's experience.

Occasionally, latecomers to a program cannot be accommodated. For example, the latecomer to a film program may find the group has left to film on location, or the latecomer to a virtual program may not be admitted because the instructor is teaching and does not notice them in the waiting room. We can accept no responsibility, financial or otherwise, in such circumstances.

When a child is unable to attend a session, no alternative arrangements can be made for the lost program time.

5. Copyright

The copyright for all material produced by our program participants and staff remains with the creators, but Centauri reserves the right to use images and audio/visual recordings of material for the purpose of marketing, and to showcase the accomplishments of our students/campers.

Our participants do not have permission to disseminate the work of others online – for example, on social media – without the permission of the creators; however, since Centauri cannot direct the behaviour of others outside our programs, we can accept no responsibility should course participants inappropriately share material with others.

6. Marketing

Centauri reserved the right to use images of campers (video and photographic) and anecdotes relating to our arts and camp activities, for the purpose of marketing, including (but not limited to) print media and social media.

7. Film Production Programs - Confidentiality Waiver

Making and sharing a short film leads to the public acknowledgement of contributions made by the young people who participate. Names are published as credits at the end of the movie, and the movie may be shared again by others online, featured on YouTube or distributed informally on social media. Marketing a short movie may result in the public distribution of the names of young artists involved with the project, and the movie may be listed on IMDb, or details about the movie shared in further ways. In completing the application form, you recognise that the full name of contributors to short movies made by Centauri film classes may enter the public domain, along with any other information freely provided by contributors for the purpose of promoting their movie – such as headshots, or biographies.

Booking Conditions Related to In-Person Programming Only

1. Off-Site Activities

Some programs may involve activities out of the Academy studio. Examples may include film groups shooting on location in the neighbourhood. In registering your child, you recognise this may be a feature of the program. General supervision will be provided (for example, the film instructor may stand between two groups, filming separately).

2. Participants in our in-person, studio programs will be permitted to leave the program unaccompanied at the end of each session unless a parent requests otherwise.

3. COVID Waiver

All in-person campers and students are required to follow safety measures mandated by public health and requested by Centauri for the duration of COVID 19. Repeated failure to comply with COVID safety regulations will result in removal from the program.

While every effort is made by Centauri to maintain a safe environment during COVID 19 and to mitigate risk of infection, parents sending their child to in-person programs during the pandemic must recognise and accept the risk. By registering your child in our programs, you agree Centauri, the directors, staff, contracted workers and volunteers can accept no responsibility should your child be exposed to COVID 19.

Centauri Arts reserves the right to adapt or change COVID policies at any time, in order to ensure the health and wellbeing of instructors, students and their families.

4. Security

We have a security camera installed in our studio, with the footage used for no other purpose than to secure the safety of our instructors and students. In registering for camps and classes, you acknowledge and accept the capture of the registrant's image/voice on the security camera.

Booking Conditions Related to Virtual Programs Only

To participate in virtual programs operated by Centauri, you must have access to a PC/Mac/Tablet or phone that has audio and video capability and a solid internet connection. Before the start of a virtual your program, the Zoom app must be downloaded. Zoom connections may occasionally falter due the number of people relying on the service. An instructor may also occasionally lose their internet connection. Centauri can accept no responsibility for technical problems that are out of our control.

For all virtual programs, links are sent out only 24 hours prior to the start of your program, for security reasons.

For effective delivery of virtual courses, you are consenting to the following: -

1. That your child has your permission to participate in a virtual program that uses video conferencing software (Zoom) and online forums regulated by Centauri (writing programs only).
2. That your child's video image be shared with the Centauri Staff and the virtual group.
3. That Centauri staff and directors reserve the right to remove – and potentially block - a child from any online program if their behavior is deemed disruptive, inappropriate or offensive to others.
4. That Centauri may record online classes/camps for the purpose of safety and quality control. Video footage will be stored securely according to GDPR rules and regulations and deleted one week after the completion of the course.
5. Some courses may require the sharing of material – such as photographs and video footage – created by participants. Such material may include images of your child.

Physical Activity in Virtual Camp

Physical Activity may be included in virtual programs, including 'stretch' breaks, virtual dance parties, and optional daily fitness sessions. In registering for our virtual programs, you understand that Centauri accepts no responsibility for the health, safety and wellbeing of campers and participants, during any kind of programming, and especially with regards to physical activity, since we are not present with the participant and we cannot guarantee an unobstructed view of the camper and their environment.
